Four star celebrations at Waterford's Fitzwilton Hotel

The Fitzwilton Hotel on Bridge Street, Waterford celebrated its recent achievement of four star status last Thursday evening (June 11th) with Waterford's business community.

The 88-bedroom hotel is now set to attract additional guests keen to enjoy four-star quality without leaving the Waterford city.

The hotel management team, led by General Manager Aiden Fleming, celebrated with an evening of wining and dining in the hotels in-house restaurant Chez K's.

Speaking at the celebration evening Sales and Marketing Manager, Geoff Dawson said, "We are delighted to welcome you all here this evening to celebrate this achievement with us, we have worked hard to develop a product and service that meets and exceeds the expectations of local, national and international customers and we are delighted to have officially achieved four stars as Waterford City's newest and only boutique hotel of this calibre."

The guest's enjoyed an evening at Restaurant Chez K's, familiar to diners in Waterford and further afield and is, undoubtedly, one of the best-known and -loved eateries in Waterford. Listed with the Bridgestone Guide and described as a 'must do' restaurant in the City.

The Fitzwilton boasts 88 bedrooms and suites with the room space being among the most generous in the city, boasting floor to ceiling windows which provide panoramic views of the quays and the cityscape.

The hotel also features a beauty salon and treatment room, express gymnasium and a resident's private lounge and business centre. It also provides free on-site parking for guests staying or dining at the hotel. Located only 100 metres from the rail and bus stations, access to the Fitzwilton Hotel makes arriving and departing from Waterford far less of a drama than it might otherwise be.
